

New Sales Engineer

This week saw the introduction of a new Technical Sales Engineer for the east of England.

Derek Payne comes to us with a wealth of laser cutting and sheetmetal experience and will be a valuable addition to our sales team.

We have a considerable number of customers in the east of England but we have never been able to service them as well as we would like. Derek will be doing that as well as expanding our presence in the area. Those of you in the area will, no doubt, get to know him over the coming months.
