

All change at Laser Process

Cannock based Laser Process Ltd, one of the UK's leading laser cutting subcontractors has announced some major changes to it's personnel.

Craig Dermody officially takes over as Eastern region sales engineer following more than six years in internal sales. Craig has already begun introducing himself to customers in his area and will continue the process over the coming weeks.

Marcus Beavon-Hughes, who has been with the company for more than eight years is taking his engineering experience into the Sales/Estimating department.

Tomas Lindsey moves to become workshop manager after seven years in the CAD office.

Brian Chatting, who has been a part-time freelance CAD technician for the last three months takes up a permanent position.

Laser Process is now approaching it's twenty-fifth anniversary and has become one of the leading laser cutting subcontractors in the UK. We are confident that the changes in personnel/positions will ensure a bright and successful future for the company.
